

Amacom Launches Data Locker®

The World's Most Secure PIN Protected AES Encrypted USB 2.0 Hard Drive

Origin Storage, a leading manufacturer and distributor of IT storage solutions, has today announced the launch of their Amacom Data Locker®. The Data Locker® Secure Drive was created to give you peace of mind in the event that your data is lost or stolen. Your data is secured by an up-to 18 digit PIN number which is entered directly on the device itself. The Data Locker® utilises a hardware based encryption chip to seamlessly encrypt and decrypt your data using military grade AES / CBC mode encryption.

The revolutionary solution could not have arrived at a more vital time, with all kinds of organisations being affected by data security breaches. The problem spans all the way from government departments to well-known financial institutions and there is no indication that it is subsiding.

The Data Locker® will allow you to store and protect all of your highly sensitive data, and personal files. It is available in three different capacities, 160GB, 320GB and 500GB and will be a vital piece of equipment for local governments and businesses alike.

Commenting on the launch Andy Cordial Managing Director at Origin Storage says, Data Locker® is the first device of its kind with PIN protection and AES hardware encryption. High profile data loss is on the increase due to the large amounts of unprotected electronic data on the move in the public and private domain. The Data Locker® can lock down your portable data and ensure safe transportation of your most sensitive information.

Three different levels of security are available:

Data Locker® Personal Device Locking/File Cloaking Process: Consumer and Education

Data Locker® Pro AES 128bit: Corporate and Local Government

Data Locker® Enterprise AES 256bit: Military and transportation of mission critical data
